The National University of Ireland, Galway, Galway University Hospitals and Mayo Clinic, USA are pleased to announce a unique 2-day conference for Clinicians, Researchers and Trainees with a common interest in the aetiology, diagnosis and management of multi-systems disorders. The conference will be held on the NUI Galway campus in the West of Ireland on June 14th and 15th, 2014.

We invite students, trainees, researchers, consultant physicians/ surgeons /pathologists and other health professionals with an interest in multi-system diseases including vasculitis, plasma cell dyscrasias, complement disorders and immune mediated disease to attend. Emphasis will be on cross-discipline collaboration in advancing the field.

Conference Organisers and Co-Chairs:
Dr. Nelson Leung, Associate Professor of Medicine, Divisions of Nephrology & Hypertension and Hematology, Mayo Clinic, USA
Prof. Matthew Griffin, Professor of Transplant Biology, Regenerative Medicine Institute, School of Medicine, NUI Galway.

Confirmed Speakers Include:
Dr. Ulrich Specks, Mayo Clinic, USA
Prof. Michael O’Dwyer, NUI Galway and Galway University Hospitals
Dr. Sanjeev Sethi, Mayo Clinic, USA
Dr. Fernando Fervenza, Mayo Clinic, USA
Prof. Mark Little, Trinity College Dublin and St. James’s Hospital Dublin
Dr. Steven Ytterberg, Mayo Clinic, USA
Dr. Marie Hogan, Mayo Clinic, USA
Dr. Declan De Freitas, Beaumont Hospital, Dublin
Dr. Hatem Amer, Mayo Clinic, USA
Dr. Anthony O’Regan, Galway University Hospitals
Dr. Manish Gandhi, Mayo Clinic, USA

Registration Fees:
Consultant/Faculty - €50
Student/Trainee - €25

CPD credits will be available.

To register or for further information please see: www.conference.ie